Letter of Recommendation

To Whom It May Concern,

It is my genuine pleasure to recommend Kiko Ramon Lukas, who joined the Pawsitive Care Foundation as Chief of Staff Intern from 11 March to 11 May 2026, working full-time alongside me and our wider team.

I founded the Pawsitive Care Foundation to build an AI-powered platform that improves long-term canine health and supports animal shelters at scale. Running a young, fast-moving 501(c)(3) means we needed someone who could move fluently between strategy, technology and operations — and that is exactly what Kiko turned out to be.

In his two months with us, Kiko independently designed and shipped our entire public-facing Foundation website (a React/Vite single-page application with eleven pages, a Stripe donation flow, an admin dashboard for donor tracking, and Google Ad Grants compliance). At the same time, he contributed substantively to our main product platform, built out our DevOps pipelines on GitHub Actions, and stood up an internal Hostinger server with n8n and Nextcloud that has materially improved the way our team coordinates day-to-day work.

What stood out most, however, was his strategic register. Kiko led the development of our growth roadmap (ambitious and realistic scenarios, then consolidated into a single master plan), built our headcount and cost forecasts, prepared comparative cost analyses for our AI infrastructure choices, and contributed to the materials we use with investors and external stakeholders. He also briefed and managed an external data-scraping team and provided technical-architectural oversight of our RAG knowledge-base pipeline, working closely with our external data engineer. Throughout, he produced documentation in both German and English to a standard that I would expect from a far more senior team member.

Kiko is rare in combining technical depth (full-stack engineering, DevOps, security fundamentals), strategic clarity (financial modelling, roadmap design, investor narrative) and operational execution. He is self-directed, calm under pressure, and unusually thoughtful about the people and systems around him — qualities I noticed especially in how he onboarded and supported the external collaborators he worked with.

I recommend him without reservation for any role that asks for a versatile, technically fluent, strategically minded operator — whether as a Chief of Staff, Founder's Associate, Strategy & Operations lead, or technical product manager. Whoever hires him will be fortunate. In fact, we have actively arranged for Kiko to continue contributing to our organisations in a freelance capacity beyond his internship — a measure of how strongly we wanted to retain his expertise.

Please feel free to contact me directly should you wish to discuss Kiko's contributions in further detail.

With sincere regards,
